

TRIPTOLEMOS
FOUNDATION

WEBINAR BETWEEN TWO CONTINENTS

The controversy on "ultra-processed" foods

PROGRAMME

The topic of “ultra-processed foods” (UPF) is generating hot debate not only within the consumer but also among scientists, productive sector, health professionals and administrators, since its interpretation generates controversy and confusion among citizens. This round table aims to address the topic with the help of experts from different countries and from a multidisciplinary perspective.

Thursday, November 21, 2024

 Mexico	9:30 – 11:30	 Colombia	10:30 – 12:30
 Brazil	12:30 – 14:30	 Spain	16:30 – 18:30

10:15 16:15
10:30 16:30
10:45 16:45

Webinar admissions

Inauguration: Triptolemos Foundation - ALACCTA

Round table: The controversy on "ultra-processed" foods

Speakers

Fernando Móner, President of the Valencian Federation of Consumers and Users (AVACU) and member of the Board of Directors of CECU (Spain)

Laura Salamero, Professor of Administrative Law at the University of Lleida (Spain)

Paulo Sobral, Director of the Department of Food Engineering, University of São Paulo (Brazil)

M. Carmen Vidal, Professor of Nutrition and Food Science, University of Barcelona (Spain)

Erich Windhab, Professor of Food Engineering, ETH Zürich Institute of Food, Nutrition and Health (Switzerland)

Moderators

Yvonne Colomer, Executive Director of the Triptolemos Foundation

Magda Ivonne Pinzon, President of the Latin American and Caribbean Association of Food Science and Technology (ALACCTA)

12:00 18:00
12:20 18:20

Question and Answer

Clausure

Online registration HERE

Collaborations:

